

Martin Luther

The Freedom of a Christian

The most important themes of the Christian faith

Pandemic
Gun Shootings
Mental Illness

Nationalism
Genderism
Fear

Health Concerns
Work Concerns
Relationship Concerns

A white, torn-paper-like border runs along the bottom edge of the page, starting from the left and extending towards the right, with a jagged, irregular edge.

Luther taught the Bible

A white, torn paper-like border runs along the bottom edge of the image, creating a jagged, irregular shape that separates the text from the dark background below.

All are created in God's image and All are inherently good

A white, torn-paper-like border runs along the bottom edge of the image, starting from the left and extending towards the right, with a jagged, irregular edge.

Human nature is distorted because of our bondage to sin...resulting in community breakdown, injustice and evil

We want to seize,
through violence or cunning, what already belongs to us by grace:

LOVE

When we don't believe the 'heart' of the Gospel –

We seek substitutes

God's ultimate response to sin is not punishment but healing, reconciliation, and freedom

The Happy Exchange

Everything that is ours now belongs to Christ

Everything that is Christ now belongs to us

Love begets Love

Love

The mark of a true Christian

What does love look like in times of a pandemic and injustices?

A white, torn paper-like border runs along the bottom edge of the image, creating a jagged, irregular shape that separates the text from the dark background.

What does love look like in the face of migrant children?

What does love look like in a society so divided by politics that even wearing a mask to protect our neighbors becomes a matter of conflict?

The Freedom of a Christian

“Faith that we are accepted, even as unacceptable as we are...”

“Christians do not live in themselves but in Christ and their neighbor, or else they are not Christian.

They live in Christ through faith and in their neighbor through love” -